

CLEANING FOR MEANING

Lewisville, Texas resident Debbie Sardone wanted to make life a little easier for women undergoing cancer treatment, so she founded Cleaning for a Reason, a national nonprofit that arranges up to four, free professional house cleanings a year. Giving the gift of a clean house may sound like a small thing, but women suffering from cancer, who are often exhausted by the treatment, are truly grateful for the service.

Cleaning for a Reason relies on 975 partners across the U.S. and Canada to volunteer their services. And Brooklyn is doing its part. Denise Bogan has always wanted to help other women, and by offering the services of her Coney Island company, Denton Cleaning, she can. "Being a mother and a working woman is tough enough," said Bogan. "Offering to help women who are facing chemotherapy or radiation treatment is just the right thing to do."

Melinda Grant of Brite Touch Cleaning Service in Crown Heights was also quick to volunteer the services of her company and she eagerly awaits her first appointment. Clean Green Maid in Greenpoint is another Brooklyn cleaning service that volunteered to partner with Cleaning for a Reason.

Signing up is easy. Those seeking the service fill out an application on the Cleaning for a Reason website and submit proof of treatment from a physician. Cleaning for a Reason then arranges for a cleaning service in your area to contact you.
